Chainmail Bikini Webcomic Returns October 2nd

St. Louis, MO, September 21, 2009

Shamus Young and Shawn Gaston are proud to announce that the short lived but generally well received webcomic Chainmail Bikini will once again have a home online!

Chainmail Bikini is a Dungeons & Dragons <sup>TM</sup> parody webcomic, that originally ran from fall of 2007 to spring of 2008. The comic has been unavailable since the summer of 2008, but due to the clamoring of tens of fans it will return to a glorious new home at <http://shawntionary.com/chainmailbikini/>

Young and Gaston will be reposting the original run of the series, all 51 comics, with brand new bonus commentary. At the end of the original series, there will be one new bonus comic, and then the archives will be available forever.

“I'm really excited that Chainmail Bikini will be online again. We did a lot of good work, and it would be a shame if it was lost forever,” says Young.

“For the last year and a half, fans haven't been able to read their favorite comics about the Displacer Moose or dead clerics or Silvershaft, the magical spear. Now finally old fans of Chainmail Bikini will be able to relive their fond memories of 2007, and we can share the comic with a whole new generation of readers,” says Gaston.

Beginning October 2nd, the original comics will be reposted every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Young and Gaston will provide new commentary, discussing the creation of Chainmail Bikini, and why, ultimately, they moved on to other projects.
